*BDS MSc MGDS MRD FDS
Specialist Endodontist*

I qualified at The Royal London Hospital in 1968 and worked for two years in Oral Surgery before establishing my own NHS General Dental Practice. After completing the Endodontic Masters Program at The Eastman Dental Institute and obtaining the Membership in Restorative Dentistry Diploma in 1994, I gained admittance to the General Dental Council Endodontic Specialist Register, then limiting my practice to endodontic referrals.

I have always enjoyed endodontic postgraduate teaching and hold a part-time appointment as Honorary Clinical Lecturer in Endodontics at The Royal London Hospital Dental Institute.

I regard myself as very fortunate that the first 25 years of my practicing life was spent in general dental practice and the second 25 years in referral Specialist Endodontic Practice. I believe this gives me a unique insight into the problems we, as practitioners encounter in our day to day clinical practice.
